How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficiency.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.
As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

Suffrage in the United States.

Equal suffrage is in force or has been adopted in some form in twenty-nine different states and territories, namely, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming. The different forms of the exercise of suffrage have been almost as various as the states named. For instance, in Pennsylvania voting has been confined to local improvements. In New York woman suffrage has been limited to school elections.

Kansas has prescribed that women shall have equal privileges with men in municipal elections. In Wyoming there has been no distinction in sex in the electoral franchise since 1870, and of all the states she has fewer criminal and insane people in proportion to total population. Utah, the home of Mormonism, granted to women the ballot until the Edmunds law was enacted in 1870. The Gentiles are now convinced that women should vote, and it is probable that when that territory is finally admitted it will be with a provision for equal suffrage.

Further examples might be cited, but when the precept is plain and generally granted that the woman is the equal of man in every province of government that regards the welfare of humanity, they are useless. It is foolish to contend that woman is not the equal of man in every work that seeks the advancement of the young, or that men are better entitled to direct the affairs of municipal and educational reform.—Woman's Recorder.

The Lot of the Woman Editor.

A writer, a woman, was overheard to say the other day that when she had manuscript to offer she preferred to interview the man rather than the woman editor. She fancied her chances of success were better, at least that seemed to be an accepted idea with many women writers.

In point of fact this is not so. A reason perhaps for the prevalence of the idea may be found in the chat at luncheon the other day of four or five women editors who all hold places in large establishments. The conversation began with the recital by one of them of an interview she had just had with an indignant woman whose work she could not take. "I'm afraid I'm making many enemies among my sisters," confessed the speaker. "It is the habit of the management to refer all women with whom it does not just know how to deal to me."

Instantly every one at the table chimed in with vehement acquiescence. As the quintet represented a diverse and wide reaching field, its policy may be taken as a typical one. It is safe to conclude that in most publishing houses it is the habit of the masculine powers to gently land all incompetency in petticoats who apply in the lap of the feminine arbiters of copy. The practice indicates a latent feeling of chivalry which the sex ought to appreciate; but on the other hand it imposes a burden of obsequy upon the head of the woman editor to which she is not entitled.—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Children Cry for Fitch's Castoria.

Strange Cave Dwellers in Spain.

At a meeting of the Royal Geographical society, of Madrid, Dr. Bide gave an account of his exploration of a wild district in the province of Caceres, which he represented as still inhabited by a strange people who speak a curious patois and live in caves and inaccessible retreats. They have a hairy skin and have hitherto displayed a strong repugnance to mixing with their Spanish and Portuguese neighbors. Roads have lately been pushed into the district inhabited by the "Jurdos," and they are beginning to learn the Castilian language and attend the fairs and markets.

W. H. Larrabee in Popular Science Monthly.

The Growth of Railroad Mileage.

In 1830 there were twenty-three miles of railway in operation in the United States. By 1883 the mileage had increased to 229 miles, and in 1885 the country had 1,088 miles of railroad. The first through railroad from the east westward was completed in 1842 between Boston and Albany, connecting at the latter place with the Erie canal. In the same year the last link of the line from Albany to Buffalo was opened. At the end of 1848 the total mileage of all the railroads in the country was 5,994 miles, or about 500 miles more than there are now in the state of Nebraska.—Edward Rosewater's Omaha Address.

The Flute is Very Old.

The flute is very old in its origin, but the flute of today is different from that of the ancients. It has been improved upon from time to time, and the old people would probably fail to recognize it now. The flageolet, which is somewhat similar, is credited to Juvenius about 1581.—Harper's Young People.

A Hard Corner.

The age of 30 is a hard corner for a woman to turn, and 35 is still harder. She feels that she is fast leaving her youth behind her. But there is no reason why a woman should be faded and pass at 35, or even at 45. The chief cause of the early fading of American women is found in the fact that many of them suffer from some form of female weakness or disease which robs the face of its bloom, draws dark circles about the eyes, brings early wrinkles and sallowness, and stamps the face and figure with ill-health. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure all these troubles, will bring back the lost bloom, and remove the pains and ailments which make women grow old before their time. Guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or price ($1.00) refunded.

Ways of Cooking Plantains.

The texture of the plantain is such that whatever stage it is used, whether green or ripe, it must be cooked to make it palatable. Plantains are chiefly used by the populace while still green—i. e. cut at some period before they are full grown. They are cooked either by boiling or roasting, chiefly the former. To successfully peel a green plantain without soiling it, the operation must be performed with wet hands or with the fruit immersed in water. The plantain contains a measure of tannic acid, and consequently in boiling in a metal pot has a tendency to turn very dark. This may, however, be prevented by boiling a little fat with the fruit—say a bit of fat pork.

Green plantains are also used for making soup. For this purpose they are boiled and then pounded in a mortar, when they form a homogeneous mass like dough, which is put into soup and eaten with it. In the mature but still green stage plantains are roasted and eaten with butter, pepper and salt, and in some cases cheese. In this state they are delicious.—Garden and Forest.

*She Had Permission.

At one of the handsomest of the evening entertainments given in the beginning of the season the hostess invited, among her other guests, a lady whose standing in society, though acquired only within a few years past, is none the less extolled or firmly established. For some occult reason after extending the invitation the hostess was so frigid in her greeting that the fact was generally noted and commented upon by the company.

Shortly afterward the guest so singled out for treatment gave an equally handsome entertainment and, it now transpires, issued an invitation to her former hostess for the sole purpose of returning the snub in kind, which by the way was successfully accomplished, to the boundless wrath of the elder woman, whose chagrin is intense at the thought of having deliberately put herself in the way of such a thing by accepting the invitation.

The young woman, in speaking of the matter previous to her own entertainment, announced her intentions in the matter to a friend.

"But," expostulated the friend, "you surely cannot insult a guest in your own house."

"Oh, yes," was the cool reply. "I have talked over the whole matter with mamma, and she has given her consent for me to do so."—Washington Star.

A New Decorative Art.

Koptography is a new art for decorating wood panels and like surfaces. It is the invention of a down east genius and is described as follows: The wood is stamped below the surface by indentation with hammer and small steel instruments, cutting the wood fiber and bringing out the picture in true perspective. The effect produced is that of a painting or raised work, but the design, being chased in wood below the surface, is as beautiful and durable as the wood itself. This renders it all the more valuable for exterior decoration, as the only care is the keeping the wood varnished. The kind of wood adapted to the koptographic method is cherry or any close grained wood.—New Orleans Picayune.

How Printed Silks Are Made.

Printed silk is made in much the same fashion as calico. When the figure is white upon a dark ground the silk is bleached, then run between rollers that print the ground, leaving the figures blank. Colored figures on white or light grounds simply reverse the process. Complex patterns employing many colors have a separate roller and printing for each tint.—Chicago Tribune.

MEMORIAL DAY.

This is the season when the survivors of the war for the Union decorate the graves of their fallen comrades. The custom, inaugurated in the South by a lady, who with all the ardor of a poetic temperament who sympathized with the Confederate cause, has become universal throughout our broad land, and veterans who wore the blue and veterans who wore the gray, as becomes American citizens, fraternize and unite in paying a tribute of respect to the memory of the companions who stood in the day of defeat or victory by their side.

To-day memorial services will be held in many of the churches, and to-morrow the exercises will be conducted in almost every village of the dead from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Civilians as well as veterans participate in the ceremonies of the day. The loving mother, the devoted wife, or the affectionate daughter decorates the graves of the loved and lost ones and look forward to Memorial Day as an occasion for specially remembering parted ones.

In Reno the G. A. R. and Women's Relief Corps have made arrangements for celebrating the day in a becoming manner. There will be a procession in which the military and civil societies will participate. Services will be held at the cemetery and the literary exercises will take place at the Opera House. The day is a legal holiday and the members of Mitchell Post request that all places of business be closed during the exercises and the citizens with them in observing the day.

A COMPETING RAILROAD.

The San Francisco papers have more or less to say about the incorporation of the San Francisco and Great Salt Lake Railway incorporated a few days ago. The incorporation calls for the construction of a railroad from San Francisco to Stockton, passing through the counties of Alameda and Contra Costa. An incorporation of the line through Nevada has been made, and two more incorporations are necessary, one for a line from Stockton to the eastern boundary of California, and the other for a line from Salt Lake City to the eastern boundary of Nevada. Upon the completion of the road the several companies will be consolidated with an aggregate capital of $25,000,000. How much of the capital stock will be taken on this coast nor how much of the money required to build the road will come from local sources cannot be ascertained at present. The necessary expenditure is estimated at $25,000,000, and it is believed that when a reasonable amount of the capital stock is paid up there will be no difficulty in floating bonds to build the road.

The bonus in Nevada amounts to $3,000 per mile or an aggregate of over $2,000,000. The gentlemen are very reticent, but express confidence in the success of the scheme, and the belief is prevalent that it will be completed in three years.

DIFFERENT OPINIONS.

James Gordon Bennett of the New York Herald, desiring to obtain reliable information on the subject, telegraphed each delegate to the Republican National Convention to wire the Herald how the delegation stands for choice for President, and whether in favor of restricted or unrestricted coinage and high or low tariff. To these queries the Central Nevada reports J. A. Blossom of Battle Mountain, one of the delegates to the Minneapolis Convention, as replying:

"We are a unit for any man for President with a record for unrestricted coinage; the tariff question has not been considered."

M. D. Foley of Reno, who is also a delegate to the Republican National Convention, informs a JOURNAL reporter that his reply to Mr. Bennett's question was:

"Blaine for President; for free coinage of silver. We favor protection for every American industry."

ONE TERM FOR PRESIDENT.

Senator Wolcott of Colorado has reported favorably from the Senate Committee on Civil Service and Retrenchment, a joint resolution preparing an amendment to the Constitution, making the President ineligible for re-election. The amendment is not to go into effect until March 4th, 1897, though Wolcott, who is an avowed silver man, would like to see it in operation at the close of Harrison's term. It will necessarily take some time to adopt the amendment. Both Houses of Congress must adopt it by a two-thirds vote and the Legislatures of three-fourths of the States or Conventions chosen for the purpose, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by Congress, shall ratify it. This cannot be done before the Presidential election and therefore, if the change is made, it will not go into effect until March 4, 1897.

The news comes from Washington that one of the wealthiest Republican Senators has placed in the hands of agents $50,000 to be wagered in sums of $1,000 and upward that Harrison will not be nominated, and that he has offered to wager in case Harrison is nominated, an unlimited amount, with odds of two to one, that he will not be elected.

CADETS, ATTENTION!

The University Cadets are requested to report at their assembly on Monday, May 30th, at 9 A. M. sharp.

The Deadly Tornado.

HURON, Kan., May 28.—At 7:40 o'clock last night a terrible tornado burst upon Harper, followed by rain and hail. Nearly all the business houses of the city were either totally destroyed or badly twisted. Both the Santa Fe and Atchafalaya and Southern depots were entirely blown away. The end was blown out of the fine school building, a church wrecked and many residences ruined. Patterson's Hotel was blown down and the Opera House and roller mill were destroyed. Will Stevenson had his neck broken. Seven deaths are reported and many badly injured. All communication is out off for twelve miles and the wires are still down. Seven people are reported killed at Argonia. At Rago, thirteen miles north of here, there was a damaging water spout. No loss of life is reported there.

The scene in the devastated town of Harper is one of ruin and destruction. Hardly a building in the entire town escaped damage, and the place is strewn with debris from end to end. It is almost a miracle that more lives were not lost, as the death list contains only six names. Many were seriously wounded and scores received slight wounds. Before the cyclone reached here it struck Crystal Springs and completely demolished it. No definite news of loss of life there has been received. After leaving Crystal Spring the storm swept with terrible force over the country, demolishing barns and farm houses, but is not known if any lives were lost. The list of killed here is, J. L. Statham, Mrs. James Gallagher and child, Mrs. Frank Tomlin and child and William Stevenson. The most seriously injured are Samuel Cole, Robert Libright, Samuel Libright, Samuel Chellis, Mrs. Samuel Chellis and Harper Normal. The High Schools are completely wrecked and the First National Bank is a complete loss. The total loss aggregates $500,000, on which there is less than $15,000 cyclone insurance.

The Briggs Case.

PORTLAND, Or., May 28.—The Week and Briggs case have ended together so far as the general assembly is concerned by a vote, which under the law of the Church is to be reckoned as 429 to 87. The appeal against the action of the Presbytery of New York in dismissing the case has been sustained in whole or in part. Final action is deferred until Monday, but the action then will be only formal, as the constitution prescribes what it shall be. The papers in the case will be sent back to the Presbytery and it will be ordered to proceed with the trial, which it is voted to discontinue. As soon as the vote was announced Judge Saylor offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The appeal in this case has been sustained by the assembly. Resolved, that the verdict of the New York Presbytery be reversed in all particulars, and resolved that all papers in the case be returned to the stated clerk of the New York Presbytery and that this Presbytery be ordered to proceed to the trial of the case on its merits.

The resolution was referred to a Committee of five with instructions to the assembly Monday morning. Adjourned till Monday.

Murdered Alive.

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 28.—A ghastly sight met the eyes yesterday of parties engaged in removing the remains of soldiers from Ft. Lowell to the National Cemetery. Evidence was plain that James Deviney, a member of "E" troop, Fourth Cavalry, assigned to the stable duty, and who died there four years ago, was buried alive. When the coffin was uncovered the head of the body was turned over to the left and the right arm was lying down by his side. The left arm was thrown over the left thigh and the lower limbs were crossing each other. From the appearance and position of the lower jaw and portions of the face which were yet intact it is evident that the body came to life again after burial, and that he subsequently died in great agony. Deviney's supposed death at the time was caused by a kick by a mule in the head.

The Apache "Kid."

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 28.—The latest reports from the Apache renegade Kid are that he killed a squaw on the Black river a few days ago and captured a young girl. The girl was afterwards sent back to her people. The Kid sent word that he saw scouts and soldiers several times when they were after him two weeks ago, and he also sent word to a friend not to be uneasy about him as he had three belts of cartridges, a Winchester rifle and revolver and all the soldiers and Indians in Arizona couldn't catch him, but he intended to surrender in two years, as he thought he would be tired of running around by that time. The girl said he was looking very thin.

The Greenwood Murderer Convicted.

NAPA, Cal., May 28.—The trial of Carl Schmidt, the man implicated in the murder of Mrs. Greenwood, closed this afternoon and the jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, fixing the penalty at imprisonment for life.

More Tremblers.

SANTA ANA, Cal., May 28.—Earthquake shocks were felt here between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning. The first was quite heavy and lasted a minute or more.

Company "C," Attention!

You are hereby ordered to meet at your Assembly Monday, May 30th, at 9 A. M. sharp. By order of F. H. NORCROSS, Captain. CHAS. BURKE, Orderly Sergeant.

MEMORIAL POEM.

For the JOURNAL.
Brave hearts that love your country,
Its honor and its fame,
And hold as proudest title,
The patriot's glorious name.
To-day, with all its memories,
Of noble deeds must thrill
Your inmost soul to reverence
For true hearts cold and still.
Brave sons of a great nation
That served with courage, vowed
To tear from our fair country
Foul slavery's sable shroud.
They left their homes, left mothers,
Children and weeping bride,
And rushed to scenes of battle
With patriot's love and pride.
Those noble martyred heroes,
They struggled, fought and fell,
To keep unstained the banner
Of her they loved so well.
They bore the starry banner,
The emblem of the free,
The pledge of peace and honor,
Of joy thro' days to be.
You love that flag still floating
O'er homes of liberty,
Think how it waved in conflict,
God bless it! We are free!
Fair Spring, sweet Spring thy blossoms
Shall strew each hero's grave;
The Nation's grateful tribute,
To the peaceful, sleeping brave.
And every flower falling
Shines, dew-drop like, a tear
Of kindly thoughts and tender
For patriot hearts sincere.
Oh, from the hills of heaven,
From fields of rest above,
Look down, oh martyred of heroes,
And bless our Nation's love.
C. L. WATT.

Telling the Truth.

It's common saying that newspapers lie, but when an editor writes a thing and puts his name to it you may be sure that he is telling the truth. Read this: "We have never before and one word in favor of any patent medicine advertisement in our columns, but having given Simmons' Liver Regulator a fair trial, we do not hesitate to say, that for dyspepsia and general debility it cannot be excelled."—FARM M. CHURCH, editor "News," Canton, Ohio.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies. Peculiar in its strength and economy. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine which can truly be said, "One Hundred Dollars' Worth of Medicine in a Bottle." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "goodness" home, there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where more other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its popularity abroad, has never attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly. No one hesitated to buy other preparations, but he sure to get the Peculiar Medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by druggists. Get it for $3. Prepared only by C. L. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses One Dollar

THE VAIN

How often have you heard interested Merchants tell you that they had a tobacco "as good as Seal;" "and better than Seal;" a little extra profit often induces them to "Harp on the same old string." The success of "Seal of North Carolina" was made by the smokers themselves. No brand of tobacco ever could come into such general use if the smokers did not like it, and as a rule the man with the pipe generally knows what he wants.

SEAL OF NORTH CAROLINA is now packed in Patent Cloth Pouches, as well as in Tins.

Principal Bray requests the High School and other pupils who intend to march in the procession next Monday to be at the High School building promptly at 9 A. M.

At the board meeting yesterday the principal of the public schools reported sixteen in the graduating class. It was decided to have the commencement exercises of the High School, Thursday, June 27th. Some of the grades will be closed on the 26th.

Charles Watts, an attendant at the Insane Asylum, while driving a nail at his place in Powning's Addition, struck the nail a slanting blow which caused it to fly. It struck him in the ball of the eye, injuring the pupil so as to destroy the sight. Dr. Lewis is attending the unfortunate man.

Professor Bray, than whom no better choice could have been made, as he is a gentleman, a scholar and an experienced educator, was unanimously re-elected principal of the Reno public schools yesterday for the ensuing year. The board of trustees have done well and the action of the members will beyond doubt meet the approval of not only the patrons of the public schools, but the public generally.

In the case of the United States vs. John Keyser, arrested for selling spirituous liquors to an Indian at Washoe, which came up before U. S. Commissioner Waldo yesterday, U. S. District Attorney Whitehead conducted the prosecution. Several witnesses were examined and the defendant was held to answer before the U. S. Grand Jury in the sum of $500, in default of which he was committed to the custody of U. S. Marshal Moore.

Hon. Thomas Wren of Eureka arrived in Reno yesterday. To a gentleman with whom he conversed on the silver question he said the organization of clubs had already done much good in Nevada. He had no doubt that were it not for the clubs the Republicans would have sent a Harrison delegation and the Democrats a Cleveland delegation to the National Conventions. He thinks free coinage is the only thing that will afford immediate relief to Nevada, and every good citizen should do all in his power to help it along regardless of its effect on old parties.

Opening of the Arcade.

Mr. O. A. Richardson last evening opened the Arcade in a splendid manner. He spread one of the finest lunches ever set before the people of Reno on a similar occasion, consisting of sandwiches, cold meats and salads that it is impossible to excel in excellence. Beverages of all kinds flowed like water and was partaken of by a host of Charlie's old time and young friends. The Journal speaks for him a goodly share of the public patronage and guarantees that none will go away dissatisfied with the quality of his liquors or treatment received while under his roof.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system, gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Rupture! Rupture! Rupture!
Positively cured in both young and old without operation or detention from business. We use the celebrated J. S. Blackburn treatment. Patients can engage in the most laborious occupations from first day of treatment. Thousands are being cured by this wonderful discovery. See Dr. Freeman & Farrow of San Francisco. LETTERS FROM THE OLD WORLD.

An American's Observations in Southern and Central Europe.

London, England, May 8, 1892.
Dear Son, and Daughter, Carson City, Nevada.—We are back in this city once more, safe and in good health. Will now rest for a time and see something of London and vicinity. It seems refreshing to get back among people with whom we can talk with our mouths instead of our hands and it is equally refreshing to get something we can read. For over nine weeks we had been completely shut off from communication from home and country.

No one knows how fast time slips by when the mind is kept busy on objects of great interest. It does not seem possible that it has been three months since we left America. In like manner, it hardly seems real when I think of all that has passed in that time. It requires an effort to stop my head from a seeming whirl to realize and analyze the crowding scenes and blending, mingling pictures of many lands, of towns, cities, mountains, rivers, seas and islands, of specimens of humanity from every nation under heaven.

A VOYAGE ON HISTORIC MATTERS.

Our route from Beyrout, Syria, was among the islands and near the shores of the main land, on a coasting voyage in a Russian steamer. When we shipped at Beyrout we thought the ship would go direct to Athens, but when it sailed north we learned that it would be out a week. This was all right with the tourists, twelve in all, for we had paid our passage and the accommodations were good.

The first stop was at Tripoli, where a day was spent in taking on 20,000 boxes of oranges, then we sailed under the southern shore of Cyprus, out to Rhodes, then by Patmos, then passed at least fifty small islands and turned aside to Smyrna. From there to Koss or Oos, then in a circuitous route to Athens. The whole voyage was very interesting, as it was on historic water and among historic islands, many of which had been the theater of stirring scenes in past time.

It was very enjoyable to take my glass and sit on deck and watch the ever changing view of sea and island and shore as we rounded new headlands, passed narrow straits and along low green islands with the long lines of surf washing the white sand. Sometimes we were so near, the people could be seen working the fields and gardens, the cattle and goats grazing on the hills; and oft times old ruins on the hill tops told their silent story of the past. The weather was mostly clear and bright, and the Mediterranean a deep blue. The clear air gave a distinct outline to objects at a distance as well as to those near at hand, which made it doubly interesting; one time I counted nine islands thus outlined.

AT ATHENS.

We landed at the Piræus, seven miles from Athens, in the afternoon, and took a carriage and drove to the city through a succession of beautiful orchards and wheat fields. When we reached it the desire to see and realize that we were at last in the historic city was so great that we walked till night along the beautiful streets, among the splendid marble mansions and public halls, over their polished floors, enjoying the realization of one of the bright dreams of early life; the real was fully up to childhood's ideal.

Early next morning we were out, and were soon standing amid the ruins of the Acropolis. It was like Baalbec once more; the grandeur, greatness and beauty of the fallen towers and temples around me took away the power of speech. As I gazed in silent wonder, a new light of history came to me; I could now understand why the Greek was chosen by the Lord to be the third Empire in preparing the world for the fifth and enduring one.

A people who could quite so much beauty, splendor and glory in so small a space as the Acropolis could and would stamp their characteristic impress on the world in a way that would not die. The ruins as they lie are far more beautiful than the temple in its glorious prime, for the splendor at its perfection faded, but the splendor of the ruins cannot change.

The Acropolis is second to Baalbec, though more interesting. Baalbec was not a prophetic city, consequently its history and influence is lost, while the history and influence of Athens will live.

We had planned several excursions through Greece, but when I had the picture of the Acropolis in my mind there was no room for anything else, so we said we were done and suddenly opened in a steamer for Constantinople.

THE CITY OF THE TURK.

The voyage to Constantinople was very interesting, taking two nights and a day, all the way through scenes noted in history. At one turn around a head land we had a good view of the Straits of Salamis, and the guide books called our attention to other places where sanguine naval battles had been fought. Many of the legends now desolate and deserted, had witnessed mighty deeds in the past, and crumbling ruins told the story of former life and activity.

As we entered the Dardanelles the scene was still more interesting; nearly every acre on either shore had witnessed some wonderful event in human history and had been wet with blood.

Here the Persian had landed, there the Greek had gained a victory, over yonder Roman first landed in Asia, etc.

We passed through the straits in the afternoon and the Sea of Marmora in the night. It was early morning when we entered the Bosphorus and approached the great city. It was a bright, clear morning and everything was aglow with the early sunlight. There were many minarets, spires and domes glittering above the broad expanse of the city; everything united in making a charming picture of the Golden Horn. I made haste to get in the boat and see the thing of beauty, as the Turks call it, but when I landed the beauty faded, and my enthusiasm was gone. As I looked into the faces of the yelling crowd around I made me shudder to see written in every countenance envy, malice and hate; it seemed like the dark, vindictive wickedness of all nations was concentrated there. A feeling of unrest took possession of me, and the intended visit or stop of a week was cut short to two days, during which time we got a tolerable idea of the city and surroundings. We climbed a very tall Venetian tower and had a grand view of the three hills on which the city stands, Pera, Stamboul and Soutare, and saw far away over the hills and plains of Asia Minor.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Resolutions Adopted at Winnemucca May 28th.

The Democratic party of the State of Nevada in delegate convention assembled at Winnemucca, May 28, 1892, declares its fealty to Democratic principles and its unalterable devotion to bi-metallicism and the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

We, the accredited representatives of the Democracy of Nevada, denounce the demonization act of 1873 and arraign its authors and maintainers, their aids and abettors in Europe and America, as enemies of the public weal, co-workers in the crime of legislating to the favored classes to the detriment of the toiling masses.

We denounce the demonization of silver as having no parallel in the wickedness of its conception, or in the atrocity of its consummation, except in the methods used by a class of big and little politicians, the puppets of the gold bug oligarchy, to defeat the restoration of its use as money.

In this great contest between the people and the foreign and domestic gold trusts and companies, we hold all free citizens men and parties as friends, all others as enemies. Therefore,

Resolved, That our delegates to the Democratic national convention, to be held on the 21st day of June next, ensuing, at the city of Chicago, are hereby instructed to use all honorable means to secure the adoption of a plank in the national platform declaring explicitly and unreservedly in the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 of gold, and under no circumstances to vote for any man for the nomination to the office of President or Vice President of the United States unless he shall be unqualifiedly in favor of free coinage and shall stand upon a free coinage platform.

Resolved, That the Democratic party, adhering to its traditional monetary policy, demands the enforcement of that provision of the constitution of the United States, which declares that Congress shall "coin money" and "regulate the value thereof," and pledges itself to favor the repeal of all laws which discriminate between the coinage and the use of gold and silver money, and to favor the enactment of a law providing for the free coinage of gold and silver, each to be a legal tender for public dues and all private and public debts.

Resolved, That we favor revenue reform, including revision of the tariff laws, so that taxes will be reduced, the burdens of the consumer lightened, wealth compelled to contribute its portion to the support of the Government, and protection given to the labor, instead of the capital employed in American industry.

Resolved, That we favor most unequivocally a competing railroad line through the State to Western High water, and we demand that our Senators and Representatives in Congress use all honorable means to further such an enterprise. We further recommend that the Democratic Conventions pledge their legislative nominees to vote for no man for United States Senator who will not pledge himself to use his utmost endeavors to afford to the people of this State such relief as can only result by such competing line.

Resolved, That we favor the election of a Democrat to the Senate of the United States—a man who is an actual resident and bona fide inhabitant of Nevada, and who is neither the attorney nor agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Resolved, That in the event of the Chicago National Convention failing to nominate candidates who are unequivocally in favor of free coinage of silver and upon a free coinage platform, the nominees of this convention are hereby absolved from all obligations to support the nominees of the national Democratic party.

Why Suffer When Relief is Sure?
HEMORRHOID PILE SALVE IS THE LATEST.
A noble remedy for the positive cure of Blind, Bleeding, Itching, and protruding piles. This salve has been in use both in the East and West for years and all that have given it a trial speak loud in its praises. The acute pain ceases immediately on its application, and a cure is permanent. This valuable salve is the product of long years of continued experiments by a well-known Pacific Coast Pharmacist, and its use has given the best possible results. For sale by all druggists in large metal capped glass jars, price $1.00. Suppositories of the same composition sent by mail, on application, at the above price.

ALONE.
The breath comes slow, the pulse is faint, the voice is no more heard. Mortality is floating by on waters faintly stirred. A life hangs in the balance of ceaseless, away-going time. Eternity approaches with step and mien sublime.
A world of joys and sorrows is slowly passing by. Hands held in farewell pressure, awaiting the word goodby.
A fount of tears runs over, where brooding silence reigns. A mortal life is ending its earthly joys and pains.
A rustic light of drapery, a hastily drawn sigh. A life on earth is ended—'adieu' goes flying. Out on a sea that opens upon a world unknown. To which the journey thither must ever be—alone.
—Clark W. Bryan in Good Housekeeping.

The Season's Offering of Fans.
Fans have been fluttering in women's hands for so many centuries that it seems almost incredible that each season should bring forth a distinct novelty in these dainty articles. But manufacturers have a fashion of rising to occasions, and the fans this spring bear witness to their fertility of resource. Pretty gauze fans show an applique of smaller silk fans exquisitely painted, sometimes with flowers, sometimes with birds, the coloring always effective. Spangled butterflies in silk have also been applied to gauze, and a new form of silk has been placed on crape and interspersed with an applique of lace. Some of the ribs are now made half of feathers and half of silk which is frayed out at the edges.
An old fashion has been revived, that of a fan which in one direction opens in natural fashion, in the other appears to fall to pieces. Painted satin fans are coming in again, and many of the ivory and bone frames are copies of the Louis XV period. Double crape and single crape and close ribs are mingled, and some of the frameworks are heavily and elaborately carved. White gauze, black gauze, and black lace are intermingled, and silver and gold lace applied to gauze displays graceful figures rendered in the same fashion or else painted. Hand painted fans are more beautiful than they have ever been.—Exchange.

A Mother's Duty is to Be Healthful.
Emerson says "the first wealth is health." It is positive property; and women have more to say on this point than men. We have a right to health, and no law of nature or superstition, of St. Paul or St. Agatha, can veto this right. On our health hangs the comfort of our households and the fine condition of our children. There is no decadent reason why women should be in a hideous fact that in all countries marriage is soon followed by premature feebleness. Every one of us has a right to a ripe old age, and to vigor and beauty and moral purity. It is the first rightness and rightness of woman. Without it we are unfit for motherhood.
An invalid may be a blessing, if necessarily such; but such blessed invalidism is rare. Our households require, above all things else, sunny faced women, who can breathe out an atmosphere of peace and comfort, and can live above a hundred small irritations. A scolding woman is the worst torture ever inflicted on a family; she is generally a result of overtaxed nerves. She is a natural product of wrong ways of living.—Mary E. Spencer in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Pockets and What For.
One of the leaders of the dress reform movement thus explains the why and wherefore of the various pockets in her waist. "This one," she said, "is for my watch. That one is for my pocket handkerchief. This little one is for car tickets, that little one is for car fare. This big one is for the roll of bills that I hope to carry."
"That great big one is for my dress reform magazine, which I always have with me to read in the cars for a little moral effect upon the passengers. That great big one is for medicines, without which no woman should ever stir a step for fear of accident. This long, narrow pocket is for a lead pencil."
"This baglike pocket with a button at the top is for parcels. This fat little pocket is for my gloves. These flat pockets are for letters and important business documents. And the other three are for any trifles that I may happen to have with me. You see, with a garment systematized as this waist is, that everything has a place and every thing can easily be in its place. If a woman can only learn to remember what her different pockets are for."—Buffalo Commercial.

Women as Market Gardeners.
So many women who wish to earn their own living have gone into the millinery business that it has been suggested that some other field of labor might prove more profitable. Years ago, before Mrs. Langtry went on the stage, she hesitated which she should do, go in for growing lettuce, cauliflower and asparagus, or play Pauline and Lady Clancarty. She was certain she would succeed in the first, and she felt sure that vegetables from her farm would have a good sale; however, she elected to go on the stage. But why does not some other woman follow her idea, and make the vegetables from Mrs. Brown Jones' farm the most desirable and the most sought after in the market?—Ladies' Home Journal.

An Old Woman Preacher.
The oldest woman in the country who is a preacher, it is thought, is the Rev. Lydia Sexton, of Seattle, now ninety three years of age. She has been in service about half a century. For eight or ten years she was an exhorter before receiving a regular license to preach in 1851. Ohio, Indiana and Illinois were her field prior to 1870, when, with her husband, she removed to Kansas. Seattle was adopted as her home three years ago. She has since then conducted many revival and other meetings, but failing eyesight threatens to terminate her activity. She hopes to live to be 104 years old.—Philadelphia Ledger

"German Syrup"
J. C. Davis, Rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Eufaula, Ala.: "My son has been badly afflicted with a fearful and threatening cough for several months, and after trying several prescriptions from physicians which failed to relieve him, he has been perfectly restored by the use of two bottles of Bo-schee's German Syrup. I can recommend it without hesitation." Chronic severe, deep-seated coughs like this are as severe tests as a remedy can be subjected to. It is for these long-standing cases that Bo-schee's German Syrup is made a specialty. Many others afflicted with this lad was, will do well to make a note of this.

J. F. Arnold, Montevideo, Minn., writes: I always use German Syrup for a Cold on the Lungs. I have never found an equal to it—far less a superior.
